

(b) The shutter is really slow and noisy.

The diagram illustrates the syntactic structure of the sentence "The shutter is really slow and noisy." The main clause is "The shutter is really slow", and the coordinate phrase "and noisy" is attached to it. The labels and arrows indicate the following structure:

- N: Noun, pointing to "shutter".
- nsubj: Noun subject, pointing to "shutter".
- A_i: Adjective, pointing to "slow".
- conj: Conjunction, pointing to "and".
- A_j: Adjective, pointing to "noisy".

The sentence is written in a bold, black, sans-serif font.